Dr Sapna Nangla

Dr. Sapna Nangla, is a Senior Consultant & Lead Head Neck, Breast and Gyne at Apollo Proton Cancer Centre, South and South East Asia's first proton therapy facility.

Dr. Nangla trained at the Armed Forces Medical College in Pune and served the Army Medical Corps of the Indian Army for 5 years. Following this, she trained at the Sanjay Gandhi Post Graduate Institute at Lucknow and has been in the field of oncology for 29 years.

She has been an early adopter of advanced radiation techniques and was among the initiators of IMRT in India in 2002-3. She went on to publish the first large experience of IMRT in head neck cancer in India. She is also one of the pioneers of using radiation to treat liver cancers with vascular compromise and has devised a frame to aid the delivery of breath-hold radiation, a technique designed to reduce cardiac dose in breast cancer radiation.

She has been instrumental in optimizing / setting up modern radiotherapy facilities across 3 major cancer centres in the Delhi National Capital Region.

Dr Nangla has published original articles in the field of head neck, liver and prostate cancers, besides lecturing extensively on these and other radiation oncology technique related subjects. She has a special interest in learning and teaching radiation techniques.

She is a member of professional societies representing Indian, American and European radiation oncology fraternities, as well as bodies which represent head neck oncology, gynecological cancers and neuro-oncology.

Dr Nangla has updated her skills regularly by attending training courses and observances in Europe and USA. Recently, she has been an observer for proton therapy at the Miami Cancer Institute, Miami, Maryland Proton Treatment Center, Baltimore and Procure Proton Therapy Centre, New Jersey, USA and is pioneering the development of proton therapy for head neck and breast cancer in this part of the world.

About Department of Microbiology

The Department of Microbiology came in to existence as an independent department in the year 1987 with bifurcation of the combined departments of Pathology and Bacteriology, under the Headship of Prof. U. C. Chaturvedi till March 1999. Thereafter, Prof. S. K. Agarwal headed the department till December 2008. After his retirement, Prof. Mastan Singh took over the reins and after his superannuation on October 16th 2016, Prof. Amita Jain took over as the current Head of the Department. The department has contributed immensely to the teaching, training, patient care and research in Microbiology. This is one of the most developed departments in the State of Uttar Pradesh and recognized nationally for quality testing, research and training. Currently the department handles more than 4 Lac specimens annually for various diagnostic tests. The department comprises ten independent divisions, ten faculty positions, fifteen MD seats and three PDCC seats. The divisions are Bacteriology, Virology & COVID-19 LAB, Hepatitis Lab, Mycology, Parasitology, Serology, HIV and ICTC, Hospital infection surveillance, Tuberculosis lab and Trauma emergency lab. We are NABL accredited laboratories with all TB and HIV tests. Virology lab based on its outstanding performance since inception in 2010, supported by the Indian Council of Medical Research/ Department of Health Research (DHR) and Ministry of Health and Family Welfare Government of India, it was selected as one of the 13 labs from throughout India for initially conducting SARS CoV-2 testing. COVID-19 LAB of our department are mentoring all state labs for COVID testing and Nodal lab of UP. By July 2022, lab tested more than 44 lac samples by RTPCR, which is highest number RTPCR tested in India by any single lab. ICMR has declared KGMU as a Centre of Excellence for COVID-19 testing. HIV and ICTC lab has the status of State Reference Laboratory. In our department RTI/STI State reference centre running since 2010 and WHO surveillance centre for diphtheria and Pertussis since 2016. ICMR funded antimicrobial resistance surveillance centre since year 2018. TB lab is recognized as Intermediate Reference Laboratory since 2006. Department received a grant from ICMR to develop Advanced Mycology Diagnostic and Research Centre at KGMU in 2021. Department gets students registered in the University for PhD and MD-PhD courses. The Department has a very vibrant academic bent and often organizes CMEs/ hands on workshops and Faculty of the department is awarded many Honours, awards and prizes. Few retired faculty members have received several honours like FNA and S.S. Bhatnagar awards. Research work done by the faculty is recognized nationally as well as internationally. Several research projects are conducted by the faculty regularly and papers are published in various scientific journal of repute by the faculty of the department.
